CALENDAR DESCRIPTION

This course will provide students with detailed knowledge of the musculoskeletal system using a combination of lecture and lab experiences. Emphasis will be placed on axial and appendicular anatomy, but neural and vascular structures that supply these regions will also be studied. Special emphasis will be given to the identification and palpation of superficial anatomy when there is clinical or athletic relevance.

COURSE NOTE

REQUIRED TEXTS AND/OR RESOURCES

COURSE STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

On successful completion of this course, students will be able to do the following:

1. Analyze bony landmarks and other superficial anatomy and compare them to the underlying anatomical structures.
2. Differentiate the structure and function of selective joints of the body.
3. Summarize the muscular attachments, actions and neural and vascular supplies of the muscles studied.

4. Explain using correct anatomical terminology, the roles of agonist, antagonist, and synergists for specific movements.
5. Synthesize qualitative and quantitative data from lab activities, combine it with research to produce laboratory reports.

Students who complete this Science and Technology course will be able to do the following:

1. Evaluate scientific information (e.g., distinguish primary and secondary sources, assess credibility and validity of information).
2. Demonstrate how a problem, concept, or process can be modelled numerically, graphically, or algorithmically.

DEPARTMENT OR PROGRAM OPERATIONAL DETAILS

Participation:

This mark, if included as part of the assessment items by the instructor, is based on both the frequency and quality of the student's comments, questions, observations, and involvement, with the emphasis on quality. The quality is determined by, among other things, the relevance, insight and clarity of remarks. Preparing the required readings will support a student's ability to participate. The participation mark is also influenced by professionalism (as described below), attitude and punctuality.

Professional Behaviour:

Students must demonstrate a professional attitude and behaviour toward work, fellow students and their instructors. Each student should demonstrate reliability, respect for and cooperation with colleagues. A willingness to work calmly and courteously under difficult conditions as well as a determination to achieve first-class work while meeting deadlines is necessary. Students should display a constructive response to criticism. Professional behaviour include appropriate language use. Appropriate language use involves using respectful, moderate, and inclusive language at all times.

Copyright Policy:

Students are expected to familiarize themselves with and abide by the University's Copyright Policy. The University's Copyright Policy is published on the University website.
