Please turn your cell phones to silent mode.

PAUL DANGERFIELD
President and Vice-Chancellor

When I think of Capilano University's graduating students of 2018, I think of commitment and engagement.

Your commitment to yourself and your future has brought you here today. It is this same commitment that got you through your countless assignments, presentations and examinations. Your engagement has propelled you to be your own advocate for learning, and studying subjects and topics that are meaningful to you. When you're engaged, you're motivated to learn and challenge yourself.

The time you've had at CapU has connected you to a myriad of experiences to draw upon as you embark on your career path. As you transition from student life, you will need to tap into this experience and knowledge to guide your way forward.

I am proud to recognize the high level of commitment and the spirit of engagement that I have witnessed in CapU's graduating students. This energy will propel you to succeed and be a force for positive change in our country and beyond our borders.

Paul Dangerfield
President

DAVID FUNG
Chancellor

To all our graduands, I commend your tenacity, ingenuity and resourcefulness.

Your tenacity gave you the drive and persistence to finish what you started. Your ingenuity has been refined in the creative thinking skills required to adapt and respond to today's fast-paced world. And lastly, your resourcefulness is assurance that you can overcome obstacles and find new ways of solving problems.

By continuing to apply these qualities to your life beyond our campus, I think you will go far and inspire others along the way.

Over the course of your time as a Capilano University student, it is also my hope that you have developed meaningful relationships with your fellow students and instructors that will serve you well for years to come. These are relationships that you can turn to for advice and guidance.

As you graduate from Capilano University, I hope you will be an example of creative thinking, problem-solving and leadership.

David Fung
Chancellor

FARHAN MOHAMED
Chair, Capilano University Alumni Association

On behalf of the Capilano University Alumni Association (CUAA), I want to congratulate you on your achievements. Today you join a worldwide community of more than 70,000 Capilano University alumni; an ambitious community that has had demonstrable impact here and around the world for almost 50 years. You are now a part of this exceptional group. Welcome!

You've worked hard to arrive at this important day and you've had a lot of support from friends, classmates, family and faculty. We are committed to providing you with continued support throughout your future endeavours.

As a strong community does, we take pride in your accomplishments—so please stay in touch. Your CapU journey does not end here, it continues through the CUAA. You can learn more about your alumni association at capilanou.ca/alumni.

Let the caps fly and the next chapter begin!

Farhan Mohamed
Chair, CUAA

DORINDA NEAVE

Dorinda Neave is an art historian, art curator and author who taught art history at Capilano University for 27 years.

Neave received a Bachelor of Arts from Manchester University and a post-graduate certificate in education from Keele University before completing a Master of Arts at the University of Victoria.

Teaching has always been one of Neave’s passions and throughout her time at Capilano University she enriched the classroom experience through innovative courses, content, experiential learning and cross-disciplinary approaches.

Neave’s articles have been published in a variety of scholarly journals such as Art Journal and Woman’s Art Journal. Her most recent article, “Portrait of the 16th Century Zen Buddhist Nun Shun’oku-Sōei, Daiji-in Temple, Kyoto: A Tale of Collaboration and Discovery” will be published in the June 2018 edition of the Virginia Review of Asian Studies. Her research takes her to many countries in Asia and Europe, and in the fall of 2017 she was a visiting scholar at Nichibunken (International Research Centre for Japanese Studies) in Kyoto.

Neave was lead author on the award-winning textbook Asian Art published in 2014. Asian Art has been successfully adopted as the textbook for Asian art history courses in many colleges and universities, including Capilano University. In 2016, Asian Art was awarded the Franklin R. Buchanan Prize for an outstanding curriculum publication on Asia that reflects current scholarship, presents innovative teaching strategies and reaches a wide audience.

Throughout her 27 years at Capilano University, Neave contributed to the Women’s Studies committee, Indigenizing the Academy committee and the Aichi Gakusen Exchange Scholarship committee. For many years, Neave was chair of the Aichi Gakusen committee, which sent three CapU students annually to Japan for four to six months to study Japanese language and culture.

Dorinda Neave retired from Capilano University in 2016 and is currently writing a book on the 15th century Japanese Zen Buddhist monk-artist Sesshū Tōyō.

VIVIAN LI

Bachelor of Design in Visual Communication

While growing up, Vivian Li was encouraged towards a career path in science, technology, engineering or math, but she chose to follow her heart and pursue art.

In 2013, she enrolled in the three-year IDEA (Illustration/Design: Elements & Applications) diploma program at Capilano University. After two years of school, Li had a summer internship at a graphic design studio. She was hired after her internship and worked as a graphic designer for a year.

In 2016, Li returned to CapU to focus on entertainment design for games and animation. Her credits from the IDEA program transferred over to the new Bachelor of Design in Visual Communication. During her last semester, she completed her concept art practicum at a local animation studio, The Sequence Group. Li's paintings can be found online under her artist handle, Vivay Li.

SURAGINI RAVINDRAN

Education Assistant Certificate

Suragini Ravindran's passion for dance and the performing arts led her to train and perform with India's renowned dance company, Shiamak Davar International, for more than 18 years. She has also volunteered in teaching dance as therapy to individuals from all walks of life, including Mumbai street children, juvenile inmates, children with HIV and the visually impaired.

Ravindran migrated to Canada in 2007, and her interest in the field of special education led her to complete the Education Assistant program at Capilano University, where she maintained a position on the dean's list.

The strong support from her family, friends and fellow students has been a driving force in her academic pursuits at CapU, and she is excited to begin her new role as an education assistant with the North Vancouver School District.

JUNE 5, 10 AM

ROCHELLE LEBLANC

Bachelor of Business Administration

Rochelle Leblanc began her studies at Capilano University in January 2016, having transferred from Douglas College after completing her Business Administration diploma. As a transfer student, Leblanc was drawn to Capilano University for the small class sizes and reputable instructors who work in industry.

During her time at Capilano University, Leblanc led the 2017-2018 American Marketing Association (AMA) case team, which was awarded third place at the AMA International Collegiate Conference. She also made the dean's list for academic achievement. After graduation, Leblanc plans to pursue a career in digital marketing, and to earn her Project Management Professional certification.

JUNE 5, 2 PM

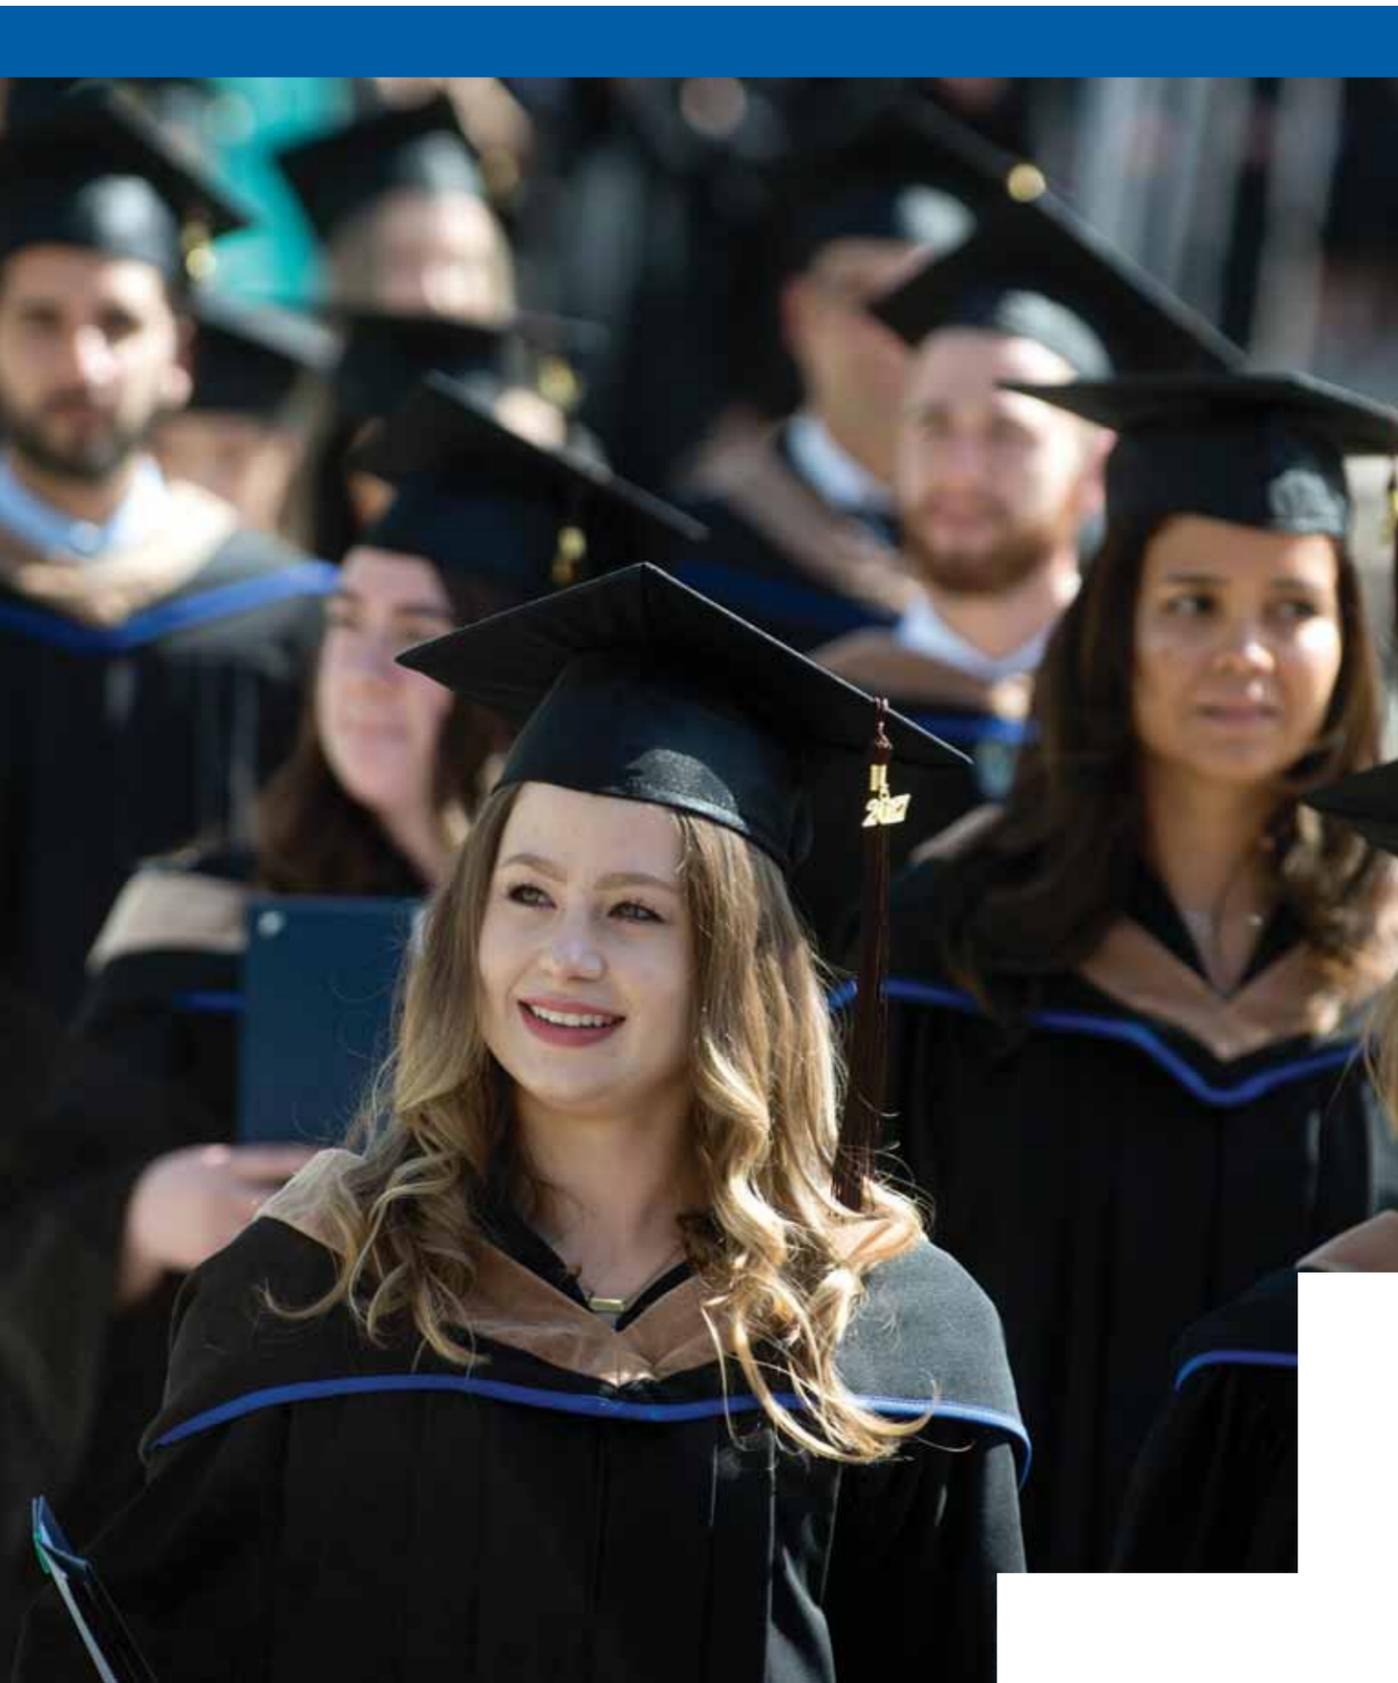

MICHELLE LIVAJA

Bachelor of Communication Studies

Michelle Livaja came to Capilano University to study communications as a mature student in September 2014. She balanced part-time studies with full-time employment before switching to full-time student status in 2017 to accelerate her studies. She maintained a spot on the dean's list for academic achievement throughout her program, even while running as a candidate in the 2017 provincial election.

Prior to coming to CapU, Michelle spent many years helping nurses advocate for better health care. She is passionate about community service, strategic communications and campaigns. Her goal is to return to organized labour or join the public service.

For the last 18 years Michelle and her husband have made their home on Bowen Island. In her spare time, she teaches tai chi and creates jewelry in her glass studio.

ACADEMIC DRESS

The cap and gown are traditional regalia each university student dons to mark the milestone of their achievements.

Why a cap and gown?

Academic regalia dates back to medieval times when university studies were often held in cold, unheated churches and the robes were worn for warmth.

The monks would often have their heads shaved in the traditional tonsure (shaved head for humility). Therefore, the hoods were necessary for warmth, as well. The hoods were later replaced by skull caps, which we now know as our classic mortarboard. In the 19th century, the hoods and robes began to take on various colours and styles to indicate level and area of study.

At Capilano University, we follow the Intercollegiate Code to determine the colour and trimmings on our hoods.

The main hood is black with a rich blue inside trim. The trim on the hood indicates the faculty, and the piping represents the particular program. In cases where a particular colour is outlined in the Intercollegiate Code for the specific area of study, the colour may vary within a faculty.

POST GRADUATE STUDIES

Black with blue lining and blue chevrons

Artona is on campus today to take pictures of the graduates. A photographer will take one portrait photo before each graduate walks on stage. The photographer will then take a second photo of each graduate with their program representative.

We ask that guests remain in their seats. Relax, enjoy the ceremony and let the professionals capture these important moments for you.

Following the ceremony, you will have the opportunity to take professional photographs with your friends and family in the Artona booth outside.

DREAM CATCHER

Leave us a memento of your time here by pinning your dreams to our dream catcher located under a tent on the walkway to the Birch Building.

RECEPTION

You are invited to a reception under the marquee directly outside of the Sportsplex following the ceremony.

Light refreshments will be served, with music provided by Pearl Jig.

SERVICES AVAILABLE

Between the Birch Building and the Sportsplex, you will find a number of services including:

- Flowers
- Convocation apparel—including a 2018 CapU grad t-shirt
- The CapU bookstore—for frames, class rings and more
- Artona portrait studio
- CapU program information booths

SYMBOLISM OF THE COAT OF ARMS

ARMS

The main part of the shield is white, depicting a salmon.

Salmon are an important feature of local wildlife, and are shown here in the artistic style of the original inhabitants of the North Shore area. The waves at the bottom of the shield indicate the University's location near the Pacific Ocean, and the top section represents the nearby Coast Mountains.

CREST

Two books with blue binding and white pages are stacked with their bottom edges visible. On either side are several maple leaves and dogwood flowers, all in white. This is set on a wreath of twisted cloth in white, light blue and blue.

The books are a traditional symbol of education, and the arrangement is inspired by the corporate emblem used when we were Capilano College. The maple leaves and dogwood flowers make reference to the fact that the University is located in British Columbia, Canada.

SUPPORTERS

A bear in blue with light blue wings is depicted on each side of the shield. Each bear stands on a rocky base.

In local First Nations mythology, bears are symbols of strength and are a link between the natural and supernatural realms. In medieval bestiaries, bears were said to give shape to their own young and, therefore, bears represent the 'forming' of the young—a metaphor for education. The wings refer to the idea of aspiration and can allude to ravens, another local creature immortalized in First Nations mythology, associated with intelligence and creativity. The rocky base refers to the nearby Coast Mountains, which are a dramatic aspect of the local landscape.

HOW CAPILANO UNIVERSITY GOT ITS NAME

Capilano University was named after Chief Joe Capilano of the Squamish Nation. Photo (taken in 1906) courtesy of the North Vancouver Museum and Archives.

In 1968, residents of the North Shore submitted names for the newly-formed regional college operating on the grounds of West Vancouver Senior Secondary School. The name Capilano was selected to honour Chief Joe Capilano, a well-known Coast Salish carver, spokesperson on history and culture and advocate for education.

Born in 1850, Chief Capilano was a respected leader and chief of the Squamish Nation (Sḵw̓x̓wú7mesh). Sḵw̓x̓wú7mesh is a reference to 'people of the sacred water,' as the Squamish River was well known for its curative qualities. Capilano University's North Vancouver campus sits on Sḵw̓x̓wú7mesh territory, which encompasses parts of the Lower Mainland and Sea-to-Sky Corridor.

In 1906, Chief Capilano led a delegation of B.C. chiefs to England and met with King Edward VII. While there, he was introduced to Canadian poet, Pauline Johnson. They became good friends, and after she moved to B.C.'s West Coast, Chief Capilano shared his legends, which she later recounted in her books and poetry.

REGALIA

Chancellor and vice-chancellor

The chancellor and vice-chancellor robes are based on traditional academic ceremonial gowns. Capilano University's chancellor's gown is black brocade with a woven dogwood flower motif, trimmed in gold brocade and edged with royal blue silk trim.

The dogwood is British Columbia's official flower. The four gold bands on both the upper and lower gothic sleeves each represent Capilano University's more than four decades as an educational institution.

The vice-chancellor's robes are in the same black brocade with the dogwood motif, trimmed in silver brocade and edged with royal blue silk. The robes were designed by Jane Still from CapU's Costuming for Stage and Screen program in the School of Motion Picture Arts. They were built by Deborah Gyug, a master of costume construction.

MACE

The mace depicts the authority vested in the University to grant degrees, and also incorporates the history and tradition that surrounds both the territory near our regional campuses and the vision of Capilano University.

The mace's design portrays the unique territorial qualities of our region, which extends from Deep Cove to Mt. Currie to Earl's Cove on the Sunshine Coast. These qualities include reference to the animal world, to the landscape, to directional symbolism and to the human element.

The mace is carved from yew, which is a natural wood found in our region.

Responsibilities for bearing the mace originated in the office of the Bedellus or Beadle and date back to the University of Glasgow, which was founded in 1451. The function of the Bedellus was to keep the students in order, and on the days of public functions he arranged the seats for dignitaries.

The duties of the Bedellus have varied greatly over the centuries. In the 17th and 18th centuries, the incumbent was required to regulate bonfire settings and purchase university supplies. Officially, the Bedellus is responsible for administration of the university's facilities.

The most prominent role the Bedellus was and continues to be on ceremonial occasions, leading the academic procession and carrying the university mace. In keeping with this longstanding tradition, our ceremonial mace will be carried by Ryan Blades, Capilano University's director of facilities.

CEREMONIAL DRUM

Rob Fairbrother, a graduate of Capilano's Outdoor Recreation Management and Tourism Management programs, donated this exceptional traditional First Nations drum to Capilano University.

The drum was originally given to Fairbrother by a group of 350 First Nations people from across Canada, with whom he worked with during the Vancouver 2010 Olympic Winter Games.

This group helped showcase the rich cultural heritage of First Nations people during the Olympics, particularly at the opening ceremonies and in the First Nations pavilion in downtown Vancouver.

Following the event, a small number of handcrafted drums were made and painted with unique symbols. One of these drums was presented to Fairbrother in recognition of his work with the First Nations group.

In giving the drum to Capilano University, Fairbrother observed, "I owe a debt to my school for providing me with an education that prepared me for working with the First Nations and I would like to repay that in some way."

“THERE IS NO END TO EDUCATION. IT IS NOT THAT YOU READ A BOOK, PASS AN EXAMINATION, AND FINISH WITH EDUCATION.

THE WHOLE OF LIFE, FROM THE MOMENT YOU ARE BORN TO THE MOMENT YOU DIE, IS A PROCESS OF LEARNING.”

THIS ISN'T THE END—IT'S JUST THE BEGINNING

Congratulations on your achievement! You are now a lifelong member of the Capilano University Alumni Association (CUAA) and we are pleased to welcome you.

You join a growing community of more than 70,000 alumni around the world. The CUAA is here to help you stay connected to that community and to provide you with exclusive access to benefits and services that support you throughout your career.

Ways to stay connected:

- Attend networking and career development events for opportunities with industry professionals and fellow alumni
- Join or start an alumni chapter
- Volunteer to serve on the CUAA Board or one of its committees
- Volunteer to help out at alumni events by emailing alumni@capilanou.ca

Update your contact information for a chance to win a CapU hoodie!

CapFest SEPTEMBER 22, 2018 | 2 TO 9 PM

Join us on Saturday, September 22 for CapFest, our biggest 50th anniversary celebration!

We have a full day of activities planned with live entertainment, a family-friendly play area, film screenings, an Indigenous festival, performances and interactive workshops. Take a tour of the campus, check out our history gallery, learn about our future campus plans and enjoy a variety of food and beverages.

CapFest will be held at our North Vancouver campus. Admission is free and open to everyone. Whether you are a student, alumni, donor, business, neighbour, employee or community member, we hope you will celebrate with us!
