

Outdoor Recreation Management Diploma

Go to work where the world plays

More than 125,000 people work in the tourism industry in B.C. and you can build the skills to join them. Make the outdoors your office with training in the Outdoor Recreation Management program at Capilano University.

Specialize in outdoor adventures

If backcountry adventuring is your passion, you can expand your expertise in select skills courses, where you'll grow your abilities in alpine travel, avalanche skills, backpacking, sea kayaking and winter travel.

Gain the skills to thrive

As part of your focused outdoor recreation career training, you'll take courses in tourism, wilderness travel, guiding, business management, marketing and leadership.

After completing your diploma, your classes ladder directly into the Bachelor of Tourism Management program, so you have the option of finishing your degree at CapU.

Career paths

- Adventure tour guide
- Entrepreneur
- Outdoor educator
- Park ranger
- Parks & recreation officer
- Recreation programmer
- Rescue technician
- Tour operator
- Wilderness therapy

Program

Outdoor Recreation Management Diploma

2 years | Full-time | Starts in Aug | North Vancouver Campus