

Field School Programs Terms of Participation

Risk and Consent

As a condition of enrolment, all students will be required to provide written acknowledgement and consent of risks and terms of participation (which include agreeing to abide by Capilano University's and the host institution's rules, regulations and code of conduct, and acknowledging their personal liability).

Students will also be required to complete a pre-departure orientation, obtain and provide proof of adequate health insurance, obtain all appropriate travel documents (visa, passport, etc.) and read all materials provided by the Centre for International Experience (including emails and admission details).

Capilano University does not arrange medical travel insurance or flight cancellation insurance; this is the responsibility of each program participant.

Privacy

Students are expected to accept responsibility for the preparations for their study abroad experience. All communications regarding the program (e.g., course enrolment, fee payments, accommodation arrangements, etc.) are made directly with the student. We cannot discuss details with non-participants, including parents or guardians (except in the case of students under 18), unless the student agrees to such disclosure and is present at those discussions.

Health and Safety

To assist students with their health and safety risk management, the Centre for International Experience provides pre-departure sessions for all outbound Study Abroad participants. Further details regarding these sessions will be provided with each student's admission package. Attendance at the pre-departure session is mandatory for all outbound Study Abroad participants.

The decision to travel is the sole responsibility of the traveler. The traveler is also responsible for his or her own personal safety. All participants in overseas travel are encouraged to review the specific safety information provided by the Government of Canada, Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada at www.travel.gc.ca.

All participants are encouraged to consult the Government of Canada Travel Health and Safety website for important information on travel health risks and preventative measures to keep themselves safe during travel. Students who have any health concerns related to traveling overseas discuss these with their health care provider prior to submitting their Study Abroad application form.

Students should not expect medical services abroad to be the same as in Canada. When traveling outside of Canada, students may also be at risk of a number of vaccine preventable illnesses. We strongly suggest that all participants consult a health care provider or visit a travel health clinic preferably six weeks before travel.

All students are required to have medical travel insurance coverage for the duration of the program. Students must make their own insurance arrangements. The Centre for International Experience at Capilano University does not purchase specific insurance plans for students participating in Study Abroad opportunities.
