DIRECTOR'S NOTES

Welcome and so glad you could join us at the Addams! Get ready for a place where sad is happy, pain is joy, and dance is a family language. Tonight, the family will face possibly their greatest challenge, one that has been avoided and sidestepped for generations. Tonight, they will come face to face with... NORMALCY in the name of LOVE – only to be reminded that love is what is normal. I'm sure we've all seen some iteration of the Addams Family, be it the original TV series, the movies, the animated features or the spin-offs, and had a wonderful time watching their wacky antics, fashions, and traditions. The Addams Family was always entertaining and left you with the question of "what odd thing will they do next?" Even the most mundane activities (i.e., putting "flowers" in a vase or spending quality time with a sibling) were done with a quirky spin. The part I overlooked as a kid was that the attraction of the Addams family was not just the surface quirks and oddities, but it was something deeper, more meaningful, and cohesive. Something that allowed them to go to bat against each other and for each other. They are A FAMILY FIRST! Through arguments, schemes, celebrations, wins, losses and more, it's easy to see yourself and your own family through them. So, get comfy and enjoy some family time with us as we present The Addams Family musical. Don't forget to snap. ;)

Thank you to the Faculty and staff of the Theatre, Costuming, and the Arts and Entertainment Departments, Amira Routledge, The BlueShore at CapU Team, Bard on the Beach Shakespeare Festival and The Arts Club Theatre Company for all their support.
